

4. I forgot the password of my video server/network camera, what should I do?

1. We are sorry you might need to reset the device to make it back to its default settings. You can achieve that purpose by using a probe to click the reset button inside the reset hole for a while. Once the LED shows POST after two iterations, you can release the reset button and using the default password to login again.